

THE HISTORY OF THE HALTOM FAMILY

By

Preface

This history is an attempt to cover the Haltom family of America in it's entirety. The family is a large one, seemingly descended from John Holtham who died in Cecil County, Maryland in 1728. He had several sons, but it appears that most, if not all of the Haltoms listed in this book are descended from one of them, that being William Holtham

There are no baptismal, will or bible records to support this conclusion it must be stated. The genealogy from William Holtham (who later used the spelling "Haltom") down to his supposed sons and in some cases, grandsons, is based on census and land records for the most part. Some educated guesswork has also been used when necessary but is so noted.

The Haltom family migrated to North Carolina by 1753 to an area that became known as Anson County in 1763 and Montgomery County in 1779. There appears to have been three and possibly four sons of William Haltom Sr., who was probably born about 1700-10: John, Spencer, William Jr. and James.

The descendants of John moved to Owen County, Indiana. Some of Spencer Haltom's family stayed in North Carolina while others moved to Tennessee and later, Arkansas and Texas. William Haltom Jr. and his descendants moved to Tennessee and Arkansas. James Haltom, who used the spelling "Altom", may or may not be a son, but appears in South Carolina in the 1770's.

There are several character traits common to the widely separated branches of the Haltom family. Education was important to the Haltom family as no less than eight members worked as schoolteachers. Most family members knew how to read and write by 1850. The Haltoms have always been willing to serve their country in time of war. Haltoms served on both sides during the Civil War. Over 40 Haltoms enlisted, $\frac{3}{4}$ in the Confederate Army. Of these men, about $\frac{1}{4}$ died during the war. Four reached the rank of Lieutenant: Elisha S. Haltom, William B. Haltom, James H. Haltom and Thomas C. Haltom, all in the Confederacy. Serving the cause of justice is also a family trait, 9 members in all branches of the family serving as Justices of the Peace and as Sheriffs/Marshals during the 1800's.

Note: Unless otherwise noted, all marriages for the Indiana Haltom family took place in Owen County, Indiana.

Layout of Book

This genealogy attempts to encompass a family that was very large and which spread out throughout the south and west of the United States. It is therefore divided into sections. The following is a table of contents.

Section II Haltom Family in North Carolina

Section III Haltom Family in Indiana

Probable sons of John Haltom (d.1775)

1. Joseph Haltom (ca.1759-1825) and descendants

Probable sons of William Haltom Jr.

7. John Haltom (ca.1790-1860's) and descendants
8. Oran William Haltom (1792-1869) and descendants
9. Thomas H. Haltom (ca.1799-ca.1849) and descendants
10. Ebenezer Haltom (ca.1796-ca.1835) and descendants

Tracing the family back has been extremely difficult due to the burning of the Montgomery County, North Carolina Court House in Lawrenceville on March 31, 1843. This cataclysm destroyed virtually all vital records dating from the founding of the county in 1779. The prime suspects in the arson fire were Elijah Spencer (ca.1770-1843) and his son Halbert (1812-53). Elijah was a successful farmer, owning much land and many slaves.

The telling of this story is significant to the Haltom family not only because of the impact it had on researching their history, but because two of Elijah Spencer's children married Haltoms. William M. Spencer (1795-1848) married in 1815 to Allafair Haltom and Mary Spencer married Ebenezer Haltom (ca.1792-1835). It is thought that Allafair and Ebenezer Haltom were children of William Haltom Jr.

The morning after the court house burned to the ground, a black man accidentally found where horses had been tied in the woods and the tracks of a man leading to the court house. These tracks were followed by a group of men 18 miles to the house of Elijah Spencer, thanks to a fresh rain that made them distinct. The hoof prints matched those of horses tied in Elijah Spencer's stable. Elijah and Harbert Spencer were immediately arrested and placed in the Lawrenceville jail.

Elijah's motive for the crime appeared to be the fact that he was under indictment for forgery and an execution had been filed against him in the amount of $200, with a heavy bond filed in the court house regarding slaves who had been seized to prevent their running off to the south. All of this evidence was destroyed in the fire. The crime with which Elijah and Harbert Spencer were charged with was punishable by death, without benefit of clergy.

The two men cut through their cell wall with a chisel and auger and escaped in July 1843. Making their way to Tennessee, Elijah fell ill with an apparent fever while riding through a town and died August 30, 1843. He was on his way to Texas. Harbert continued on to that state where he died in 1853.

Another reason the Haltom family is difficult to trace is that the spelling of the surname has been altered through the years to Altom, Altum and Holtam by various descendants of the original Maryland settlers' Holtham. It's only recently that genealogists working on the various branches of the Haltom/Altom families have realized that there is some connection between the two and that connection is in Cecil County, Maryland, where both families trace their origins to.

There was a large question among Haltom researchers on whether the Spencer Halthom mentioned in the 1761 will of John Halthom in Cecil County, Maryland is the same man as Spencer Haltom who appears in Anson County, North Carolina in 1771-74. The finding in September 1999 of a deed from Spencer and Ann Holtham to Francis Alexander, dated May 27, 1774 in Cecil County appeared to settle the question. Holthams sold land they inherited in the 1761 will to Alexander. Spencer Holtham signed his name to the deed, while his sister Ann made her mark. In the records of Rowan County, North Carolina, there is a deed dated May 3, 1771 in which "Spencer Altum of Montgomery County, North Carolina" sold land. This Spencer, believed to be the one who lived in Montgomery County as late as 1822, made his mark, being unable to write his name. The Ann Altum who cosigned that deed wrote her name. She is likely the wife of this Spencer Haltom, not the sister of the one in the Cecil County deed. The two Spencers would appear to be first cousins.

He later purchased land known as "Collett's Land Delight" and later "Blanford", which was part of a tract called "Town Point" or Cecil Town". He married Ann Latham, daughter of Aaron Latham, innkeeper, which was proven by Aaron's 1751 will. There is evidence that John Holtham was also an innkeeper. This genealogy concerns itself with William Haltom and his descendants. He appears to be the William mentioned in the will of John Holtham in Cecil County, Maryland, 1728. On June 2, 1750, Wm. Hallam is listed as a witness to a deed in Anson County, North Carolina. There was a sect of Moravians in the area that kept a log of the comings and goings of William Haltem/Altem from 1753-56:

One theory of the relationship between the various Haltoms mentioned in the previous records is that William Haltom (Sr.) is the man who visited the Moravians and he had four sons, John, William Jr., James and Spencer.

John Haltom, the son who appears first in Anson Co. N.C. records (1761), is the likely choice as the father of William Haltom (1764-1859) and Joseph Haltom (ca.1759-1825), whose descendants settled in Owen County, Indiana. John Haltom was born about 1735/40 and died in April 1775 in Anson County, North Carolina. William and Joseph Haltom are known to be brothers. Of the other 2 sons of William Haltom Sr. who stayed in Montgomery County, N.C., William Haltom Jr. had a son named William, born in 1792, so he is not the father of William Haltom (1764-1859). Spencer Haltom, had a son named Joseph, born about 1773. This eliminates him as the father of Joseph Haltom (ca.1759-1825).

Section II - Haltom Family of North Carolina

William Haltom Sr. was probably born ca.1700/15 in Cecil County, Maryland to

John and Mary Holtham. He appears for the first time in colonial records in Cecil County, 1728 in the will of his father. The next time he is found is January 17, 1753 when he witnessed a series of land patents of a James Hutton in what would in 1763 become Anson County, North Carolina. William entered 200 acres on the west side of the Little River on December 14, 1754. He was granted a total of 1,216 acres in 1755 on the Dan River and Town Fork.

A group of Moravians, a religious sect, lived in this area at this time. The local Indians were very warlike in North Carolina at this point, which was the reason the Moravians made numerous references to "Mr. Altem" in a journal they kept. For the safety of his family, William Haltom frequently took his family to the Moravian settlement. A journal entry on May 15, 1756 stated that his horse was stolen by the Indians. William Haltom went to court to reclaim his horse at Salisbury.

In May 1773, "William Haltom Sr." entered 50 acres in Anson County on the Yadkin River.

He signed a petition April 19, 1777 that called for the creation of a new county. In 1779, the area the family lived in was set off as Montgomery County, North Carolina. They lived between the waters of the Little River and Dumas Creek. He is listed in the 1782 Montgomery County tax list as "William Holton Sr., invalid". William owned 100 acres and 2 slaves at that point. He's also in the 1787 tax list, owning 2 slaves. In the 1790 Montgomery County census, the "William Haltom Sr." listed is actually his son, who was born between 1740/55. This is a sign that the father had died between 1787-90 and the son took the title "Sr." as the eldest man with that name in the family. The following is a list of his probable children.

Issue:

- a. i. John Haltom b.ca.1735/40 d.April 1775
- b. ii. Spencer Haltom b.ca.1742/45 d.ca.1824 ?
- c. iii. William Haltom Jr. b.ca.1742/50 d.1830/40
- d. iv. James Haltom b.ca.1745/50 d.1798

a. John Haltom, probable son of William Haltom, was born ca.1735/40, probably in Cecil County, Maryland. He first appears in the records of Anson County, North Carolina in 1761, but was probably one of the children of William Haltom referred to in the Moravian records in 1753 in Anson County. He was granted 150 acres on the westside of the Uwarry River on December 21, 1768. It is unknown if the title "Major" was used in place of "senior" or more likely, a military title.

The minutes of the Anson County court for July 13, 1774 show "John Hallom, Wm. Hallom and Spencer Hallom" being ordered to work on a road from Rocky Creek to the Little River. This is John Haltom and his brothers William and Spencer. On April 14, 1775, Mary Haltom, widow of John, was appointed administrator of his estate. There is a land record in Tryon County, N.C., April 8, 1775, where John Haltom purchased land, so his death evidently occurred between April 8-14, 1775. The following is a list of his probable children.

Issue:

- A. i. Joseph Haltom b.ca.1759 d.12-24-1825
- B. ii. William Haltom b.3-10-1764 d.Jan. 1860

b. Spencer Haltom, probable son of William Haltom, was born ca.1742/45 in Cecil County, Maryland, although some sources place his year of birth at 1730. He might have been married twice. "Spencer Altum" of Montgomery County, North Carolina sold land in Surry County, North Carolina, March 14, 1785 with wife "Ann Altum". Family tradition says that his wife was Nancy, whose maiden name was said to have been West. He apparently either married twice, first to Ann, who died shortly after the 1785 deed, then to Nancy, who gave birth to the second set of children born between 1787-99, or only once, to a woman named Nancy Ann.

Spencer is not on the 1763 Anson County, N.C. tax list and that may be because he was not yet 21 years of age. Spencer received land grants on Bishop's Creek in 1783 and Dumas Creek in 1789. Spencer is found in the 1782 tax list of Montgomery County, North Carolina owning 400 acres. In the 1787 tax list he owned 1 slave.

Spencer Haltom is listed in the 1800 census as being born before 1755. He owned 4 slaves. In 1810, there is a census entry for a Haltom born before 1765 who owned 7 slaves. His first name is illegible but it is either Spencer or his brother William. This is the last time Spencer is found in the Montgomery County records. There is no 1820 census of that county and he is not listed in the 1830 census so he evidently died between those years. There is one possible clue to his date of death however. On November 22, 1824, some property owned by Spencer Haltom was deeded over to his granddaughter Benneter Haltom, daughter of Nancy Haltom, deceased, then living in Madison Co. Tennessee. This may indicate a property division of Spencer's land and a probable indication of his death.

m.ca.1808 John Haltom Nancy apparently married her cousin John, whose biography is listed under "G".

c. William Haltom Jr., probable son of William Haltom, was born ca.1742/50, probably in Cecil Co. Md. William Haltom Jr., as he was known then, purchased his first land in Anson County, North Carolina in 1772, 100 acres on the north side of the PeeDee River and north side of the Wolf Branch. In the 1782 Montgomery Co. North Carolina tax list, William owned 150 acres and 2 slaves. After his father's death in the late 1780's, he was from thenceforth known as Senior. William Haltom Sr. is found in the 1800 Montgomery County census owning 5 slaves. In 1805 "William Haltom Sr." signed a petition in Montgomery County to save fisheries on the Uwharrie River because of mill dams being erected.

Around 1814-15, William and his sons moved from Montgomery County N.C. to Tennessee. By 1822, they had moved onto Madison County of that state. William Haltom is listed on the Madison County tax list of 1822, being taxed for one slave between the age of 12-50. He owned 150 acres then.

"William Haltom" is found in the 1830 Madison Co. Tennessee census, aged 80-90 years old. He was living nearby his sons Thomas and Ebenezer, while Nathaniel, John and Oran William Haltom lived in adjacent Henderson County. William owned 11 slaves then. William and son Oran William Haltom moved after 1834 from Madison Co. to Mississippi, where they were in 1838.

A story told by William Eldredge Haltom, born in 1824, grandson of William Haltom Sr., related that he visited his grandfather Haltom in Mississippi and that he would pull a long black coffin from under the bed and let him help himself to apples from the coffin. By 1840, the sons had moved onto Texas and William Haltom Sr. had apparently passed away, probably well into his 80's.

A possible reference to James in North Carolina is a deed dated January 9, 1760 in Anson County witnessed by a James "Haltman". A James Holtom is listed as owing money to Justice James Cotton in Anson County, February, 1776. This James probably had moved out of the county to be on this list and it may be a reference to James Altum. James Altum moved by the early 1770's to the Newberry District of South Carolina, where he and wife Phebe lived out their lives. He wrote his will on October 12, 1798.

FIRST GENERATION

A. Joseph Haltom Sr. was born ca. 1759 in Anson County, North Carolina, possibly to John and Mary Haltom. Married April 25, 1780 in Montgomery County, North Carolina to Mary Randle, born ca. 1764 in North Carolina. They were married by Peter Cotton, Justice of the Peace. During the American Revolution, Joseph enlisted in 1777 in a regiment of Montgomery County North Carolina militia, commanded by Col. Childs, serving until 1783. Joseph appears in the census of Montgomery County taken on July 3, 1787. He had apparently one son and one daughter at that time and no slaves.

The first record of Joseph Haltom in North Carolina comes on April 8, 1785 when he served as chain bearer for land surveyed for William Holtom Sr. in Montgomery County. Joseph served in that same capacity on November 29, 1789, when land granted to Spencer Holtom on Bishops Creek was surveyed. On June 15, 1794, Joseph Haltom is recorded as entering 50 acres on the northwest side of Bushops (Bishops) Creek, land bordering Spencer Haltom. He is listed in the 1800-1810 censuses of Montgomery County. He lived here until he died, on December 24, 1825. Daughters Sarah and Rachel moved to Owen Co. Indiana in 1826.

In 1827 or so, Joseph's brother William and his sons left Montgomery County for Jackson township of Owen County, Indiana. Mary Haltom and her children joined them in Owen County in 1831. In 1840, Mary Haltom was living with her son Spencer Haltom. Mary attempted to get a widow's pension for her husband's military service in 1851. On February 3, 1851 Mary Haltom, aged 86 years, appeared before her son James W. Haltom, who, in his capacity as a Justice of the Peace, took her deposition.

Mary stated that she was the widow of Joseph Haltom, deceased, who was a private in the company commanded by Capt. Joseph Parsons in the regiment commanded by Col. Childs in the army of the Revolution, having enlisted sometime in the year 1777. Others who gave testimony to James W. Haltom were William Haltom, age 86, a brother of Joseph. He remembered Joseph serving several tours of duty both before and after the marriage to Mary Randle.

William Haltom made another affidavit on August 24, 1852 stating that Joseph Haltom served at least three years in tours of three and six months. He stated that he "recollects very distinctly that at the time of the destruction of Petersburg and Richmond (Note: The British took possession of Petersburg, Va. in May 1781) said Mary Haltom was then married to said Joseph Haltom and that her said husband was absent with the light horse troops, and that she expressed a great deal of uneasiness about him at the time of both these events. He also recollects that the first news he heard of the surrender of Cornwallis he heard at the house of said Joseph Haltom, and that said Mary Haltom was at that time the mother of one child which was not born for considerably over one year after their marriage. He continues to say that Mary has resided in Owen County about twenty years..."

Also giving an affidavit on August 24th was Peter Luther, age 86, who stated he boarded with the Joseph Haltom family in Montgomery County from 1782-1790. When he began living with the family in the summer of 1782, Mary Haltom was the mother of two children.

Mary Haltom lived with her son Spencer from before 1840 to her death, which occurred sometime before September 9, 1853 in Owen County. She would have been approximately 88 years old. She left a legacy to her children Joel, Spencer, Amy, Mary, Rachel and William Haltom. Daughter Sarah was not mentioned. Shortly after her death, her children Spencer, Sarah and Rachel left Owen County by a covered wagon and single team, for Iowa, in 1853. Issue:

B. William Haltom Sr. was born March 10, 1764 in North Carolina, probably to William Haltom. He married Mary "Polly" Stevens, daughter of John Stevens, born ca.1785 in Montgomery County, North Carolina. William came to Jackson township of Owen County by 1828, settling on Jordan Creek. He is found in the 1828 Owen County tax list. On January 1, 1829, William, Henry and Claborn (H)Altom were appointed trustees of the 16th section in Morgan township for 1829. This section was reserved for use by the school system.

On September 5, 1829 William purchased 80 acres in Jackson township from John Haltom, who was probably his son. This became his home place, in section 12 of Jackson township. He owned 140 acres in 1843 located in Jackson township. William sold 100 acres of this land to Isaac S. Haltom, his grandson, on February 28, 1853 for $500. William Haltom Sr., or Poplar Bill as he was known, died January 1860 in Owen County at age 95, of the effects of old age. His probable children are below.

SECOND GENERATION

1. Sarah Ellen Haltom was born November 20, 1800 in Montgomery County, North Carolina to Joseph and Mary (Randle) Haltom. Married September 30, 1819 to Abel H. Hicks (Montgomery Co. N.C.), born July 8, 1802 in Montgomery Co. N.C. to Robert and Sarah (Jordan) Hicks. In 1826, Able Hicks took his family to Owen County, Indiana. They arrived by August when Polly Hicks was born.

The following information comes from a letter written September 14, 1952 by Miss Jennie Smith, great-granddaughter of Sarah (Haltom) Hicks, who stated that her mother Sarah E. (Hicks) Smith told her that Sarah Ellen Haltom was a sister of Rachel and Spencer Haltom. "In 1852 Abel sold his good farm and came to Iowa to help his sons get a start in the new country. The married sons remain in Indiana. Abel was a Baptist preacher, never had a church, was kind of a local preacher."

The year of the migration was more likely 1853. Able and Sarah Hicks, along with Rachel and Spencer Haltom left Owen County in covered wagons. Spencer settled in Lucas County, Rachel in Clarke County and Able in Warren County. Able died November 29, 1871 in Sandyville, Warren County, Iowa. Sarah passed away there on September 21, 1882. Both are buried in the Sandyville Cemetery, Sandyville, Iowa.

xvii. Reuben Hicks

According to Miss Jennie Smith, Reuben was "a bleeder", who died of a nosebleed at age 8.

2. James W. Haltom was born ca. 1807 in Montgomery County, North Carolina, to Joseph and Mary (Randall) Haltom. James settled in Jackson township of Owen County, Indiana in 1831. On April 6, 1837 he patented 40 acres in section 8 of Jackson township. He was elected to serve on Owen County's first board of County Commissioners, on March 3, 1834. James served as a Justice of the Peace in the 1830's.

James was married on February 3, 1831 in Montgomery Co. N.C. (IGI record) to Rebecca Sugg, born October 5, 1808 in North Carolina. After selling his land patent in 1841, he owned no land for 14 years. He joined the New Union Baptist Church in October 1845 through his wife uniting with it. In January 1847 James was excluded from the congregation due to his denying the doctrine of the church. James lived in Jackson township in 1850.

James purchased a lot in the village of Cataract in Jennings township on April 19, 1855, later adding two more lots. He operated a hotel there. On March 3, 1859, his daughter Jane died at age 18. She was the first person buried in the Cataract cemetery. On March 12th, James sold his remaining lot in town and moved to Washington township of Owen County, where he was in 1860. In 1862, he was serving as Superintendant of Owen County. James and Rebecca Haltom had four sons who served in the Union Army Civil War, two of whom died during their service. James was again serving as Owen County Commissioner in 1867. He lived 2 miles north of Spencer in 1870. There is no evidence James owned land after that year.

By 1880, James had moved to Jefferson township of Putnam County, Indiana, where he was working as a basket maker. He was living on his son Isaac's farm located in the lower part of the township. He was listed on an April, 1882 pension list, which he received due to his father's Revolutionary War service. His residence was listed as P.O. Atlanta, Indiana, which was located in Harrison township on the Owen County-Morgan County line. He was living in Worthington, in Greene County, Indiana in 1886 with son Henry. James visited his son Wiley S. Haltom in Martinsville around Christmas time, 1886. In 1890 he was working as a basket maker there. It is thought that he was still living on Isaac's farm.

Rebecca died on November 11, 1880, in Putnam County. She is buried in the Walters Cemetery west of Eminence, Indiana, on the Morgan-Putnam County line, close to where they lived in Atlanta. James W. Haltom was dead by 1900 and was probably buried next to Rebecca, although no tombstone was laid on his grave.

Of these 12 men, a total of 6 joined the Union Army. The first to join was Wiley S. Haltom on April 15, 1861, 3 days after the start of the war. He enlisted for 3 months in Co. H of the 14th Indiana Inf. His brother James G. Haltom enlisted on September 15, 1861 at Terre Haute in Co. B of the 31st Ind. Inf. He was a son of James W. Haltom, Owen County Commissioner. His brother Wiley S. Haltom enlisted at Spencer on October 10, 1861, in Co. A of the 59th Indiana Inf. Wiley mustered in on February 11th. Four days later, Cpl. James G. Haltom was killed at Ft. Donelson, Kentucky.

Wiley's regiment went west to Missouri and saw action at the battle of Corinth, Mississippi, October 3, 1862. He didn't know it, but directly across the battle lines from his regiment was the 3rd Texas Cavalry of the Confederate States Army. In that regiment were Privates Zachariah T. and James G. Haltom. Their relationship with Wiley Haltom was as 4th cousins. The Union was defending the town of Corinth and on October 4th, the 3rd Texas Cavalry advanced to within only a short distance away from Wiley Haltom's position. The Union's defense was successful however.

Back in Owen County, brothers Isaac W. and Pleasant M. Haltom enlisted on August 10, 1862 in Co. B of the 97th Indiana Regiment. They were sons of William Haltom Jr., brother of James W. Haltom. Their regiment went to Vicksburg where they were on duty when that city fell on July 4, 1863. Wiley S. Haltom's regiment was also at Vicksburg, having fought in all the battles leading up to that great victory. On July 12th, Alexander Haltom, younger brother of Wiley, enlisted at Spencer. He was about 19 years old. He enlisted in Co. G of the 110th Indiana Inf. This regiment never went into the field and Alexander mustered out on February 25, 1864.

Isaac and Pleasant Haltom's 97th Indiana was at the Battle of Chatanooga, which was one of the most severe conflicts of the war. On December 23, 1863, at Memphis, Tennessee, Pleasant deserted his regiment. He went to Iowa, probably with his brother Joel S. Haltom, who also went to Iowa that year, from Owen County.

Wiley reenlisted as a veteran volunteer on New Years Day, 1864 and went to Indianapolis on March 8th for a furlough. His brother Henry S. Haltom, age 16, enlisted at Spencer on May 10, 1864 in Co. K of the 137th Indiana, the 4th son of James W. Haltom to serve the Union. He didn't see much action, being stationed in Tennessee, then mustering out on September 21, 1864 at Indianapolis.

That was not the case for Wiley and Isaac Haltom, the two members of the family still in uniform. Their regiments were marching through Georgia, as part of Gen. Sherman's March to the Sea. They were soon joined by Alexander Haltom, who had mustered into Co. K. of the 37th Indiana Inf. on October 26th at Terre Haute. They participated in the capture of Savannah, Georgia on December 21, 1864, then pushed their way through South Carolina and into North Carolina. The three Haltom men, Wiley in the 59th Indiana, Alexander in the 37th Indiana and Isaac in the 97th Indiana, fought their last battle at Bentonville, N.C. on February 15, 1864. Alexander died on April 1, 1864 at Goldsboro, N.C. It's unknown whether this was due to wounds or disease, although the latter was the likely cause.

General Sherman accepted the surrender of Gen. J.E. Johnston shortly afterward at Goldsboro. Gen. Sherman's troops made a triumphant march through Washington D.C. Isaac mustered out on June 9th and had his regiment had a reception at Indianapolis on June 13th. Wiley, who had been promoted to corporal on June 1st, mustered out July 17th and came to Indianapolis the next day. The war was finally over for the Indiana Haltom family.

3. Rachel Haltom was born ca.1810 to Joseph and Mary (Randle) Haltom. Rachel Haltom gave birth to her only child in 1825 in Montgomery County, N.C. named Martin Tillman Haltom. She never married the father. Martin is sometimes referred to as John Tillman Haltom and it is likely that his father was John Tillman, who lived in Montgomery County and was born about 1785. He was a married man at the time. About 1826 according to a descendant, Rachel and her son left Montgomery County with her sister Sarah Hicks' family. The party of settlers travelled to Morgan township of Owen County, Indiana.

In 1853, Rachel Haltom and her son Martin's family left via covered wagon for Iowa. They settled in Clarke County, Iowa. Rachel Haltom's grave is not found in the Walker Cemetery of Lucas County, Iowa where Martin T. Haltom and his family are buried. It's possible the Rachel "Halsom" who died in Jackson township of Clay County, Indiana, on November 21, 1887 is our Rachel. She was aged 80 according to the death record.

4. Spencer Haltom was born February 19, 1813 in Montgomery County, North Carolina, to Joseph and Mary (Randle) Haltom. He came to Jackson township of Owen County, Indiana in 1831. He married on October 8, 1840 to Mary L. Asher, daughter of William and Mary (Davis) Asher, born April 30, 1817 in Tennessee. Spencer first appears in the records of Owen County on January 11, 1837 when he patented 40 acres in Morgan township, section 24. This became his home. On March 2, 1837 the Owen County Commissioners appointed him supervisor of Road District #2 in Morgan township for that year. Listed as illiterate in the 1850 census, Spencer was one of the few members of the Haltom family who could not read or write.

His mother lived with his family in Owen County. After her death and the settlement of her estate on September 9, 1853, Spencer took his family in a covered wagon in late 1853 to Lucas County, Iowa. Spencer sold his Owen County land on December 10, 1853. He left two children, Gemima and Sarah, buried in the Asher Cemetery, in Jackson township. He was living in Lucas County in 1870. Spencer and Mary Haltom settled in what was known as the Puckerbrush community, in Otter Creek township on the Clarke County-Lucas County line. Spencer died on January 22, 1888, Mary on December 20, 1905. Both are buried in the Walker Cemetery near where they lived.

5. Amy Haltom was born April 30, 1814 in Montgomery County, North Carolina, to Joseph and Mary (Randle) Haltom. She came to Owen County, Indiana in 1831 and married in September of 1840 (family date book) to William Brantley Stevens, born February 7, 1816 in Montgomery County, North Carolina to Henry and Amy (Hicks) Stevens. Based on the birth dates of Brantley Stevens' children, it appears he was married previously, possibly to another woman named Amy, last name unknown.

William "Brantley" Stevens patented his first land in Owen County on January 8, 1836. He entered a total of 120 acres that year. Amy and Brantly lived in Jackson township on a farm worth $1,400 in 1860.

Brantley joined the New Union Baptist Church in March 1846. In October 1852 he was brought up on charges of shouting and for using spiritous liquors. The following month, he was excluded from the church for this offense.

In June 1859 he and his father appeared before the church brethren and satisfactorily refuted unspecified charges, apparently made against them. On July 18, 1869, Brantley rejoined the church at the barn of I.S. Lucas, where a meeting was held. He once again got into trouble, being excluded in January 1877 along with his wife and daughter Marilda.

William B. Stevens suffered a mental breakdown sometime between 1856-70. Although he was able to sign deeds up to July 26, 1856, afterward, he only made his mark. He was listed as illiterate in 1870. Stories have been passed down in the family of "Grandpa Brantley" losing his mind. One day his family came home and found him out in the yard eating grass, like a horse. The family had to chain him to a tree, when they were working on the farm, so he wouldn't wander off. They did the same in the house, chaining him to a bed post in the main room, so he wouldn't fall into the fireplace.

They lived near where the town of Poland, Indiana was founded in 1841. Amy died on May 19, 1872 and was buried in the Carolina Cemetery in Owen County. Brantley apparently was married before he wed Amy Haltom as he had 2 three children born ca.1834-38. After her death, he married to a household servant, Lucinda Yant, born 1848 in Ohio, on January 14, 1873. She gave him one child, Hiram. Lucinda joined the New Union Baptist Church on July 18, 1869 and was excluded in January 1877. Lucinda died April 1, 1910 in Jackson township. Brantley, who was listed in the Owen County Democrat on July 21, 1892, as "still sick" near the Jordan Village, died about 1893, Owen County.

7. William Haltom Jr. was born ca.1804 in Montgomery County, North Carolina to Joseph and Mary (Randle) Haltom. William arrived in Owen County about 1831 from Montgomery County. William purchased 40 acres in section 17 of Morgan township from his brother Joel Haltom on May 30, 1837. William Haltom Jr. was chosen as a Circuit Court grand juror on May 2, 1838. After his wife Elizabeth Sugg died, he remarried April 28, 1844 to Elizabeth (Lucas) Coffey, born ca.1804 in North Carolina, widow of Elias Coffey.

William purchased 40 acres in Jackson township, 1846, farming there in 1850. He owned 200 acres then. Unable to read or write, William died in Jackson township, August 11, 1859, of a fever, being buried in the Carolina Cemetery. Elizabeth, his second wife, died on December 19, 1857, being buried there as well. In 1860, their children Lockey, Dicy Ann and Jane were living together in one household while James, Ezekiel, Pleasant and Allen Haltom were living nearby. Marada Lucas was appointed guardian of the minor children. The property of the father was divided up as follows: Ezekiel-2 shares, James-2 shares, Lockey-1.5 shares, Dicey 1.5 shares and 1 share for the minor children, Pleasant, Allen, Eliza and Mary. 10. Joel Haltom was born ca.1805 in Montgomery County, North Carolina, to Joseph and Mary (Randle) Haltom. According to family tradition, Joel eloped to Georgia with Lucinda Morris, daughter of James Morris, born August 21, 1807 in North Carolina. Joel lived for a few years after his marriage in the state of Georgia. He lived in Habersham County. Joel moved his family to Owen County, Indiana, where he is first found in the records of the Circuit Court in April 1836. He was fined $1.00 for gambling. On October 28, 1836, he patented 80 acres in Section 19 in Morgan township of Owen County, Indiana. On May 30, 1837 Joel added 40 acres. Joel Haltom served on the Owen County grand jury in May 1838 and February 1839.

Joel Haltom had his problems with the law, being taken to court on a charge of perjury in a counterfeiting case and for a fight where his eye was gouged out. A much more serious case came in late 1854 involving the question of who tore down the home of Mrs. May Hedger and her son Clinton, on August 29th of that year.

The background on this story is that a family named Hedger had "squatted" on some land owned by Joel Haltom and at some point, Joel had the house torn down to evict them. The Hedgers, who were then homeless and had to live under an oak tree, suffered greatly according to a grand jury, in particular Clinton, who had a lingering illness. He died on September 11, 1854, due to living outside.

In November 1854 Joel Haltom and his son James were indicated on a charge of Murder in the 2nd Degree. Warrants issued for their arrest were not served by the sheriff of Clay County, where they apparently were living. Joel and James Haltom appeared in court in November 1854 and their bail of $5,000 was met by seven men, including Joel's brother James W. Haltom.

In May 1855 the bail was revoked due to a clerical error and a new bail of $5,000 each was set. Nine men met this bail. The trial was held in November 1855 with the Haltoms being represented by a Mr. Neff. The jury found them innocent of the charge. That same month Joel was indicted by the grand jury for perjury for his testimony November 23, 1854 that he did not know who tore the house down. It's unknown how that charge was resolved.

In the 1850 Agricultural Census for Owen County, Joel Haltom had 40 acres of improved land and 40 acres of unimproved land. He had 2 horses, 3 cows, 17 sheep and 30 swine. In the previous year he produced 52 bushels of wheat, 300 bushels of Indian corn, 20 bushels of oat, 25 lbs., wool, 2 bushels of peas or beans, 104 lbs of butter and 2 tons of hay.

By the time of his death, Joel had 25 acres tilled, 20 acres in meadow or orchard, 5 acres in forest. He had 3 horses, 3 milk cows, 3 calves, 7 sheep and 9 swine. Joel also had an apple and peach orchard.

He was living in Morgan township 1840-60 and owned a $1500 farm in Jackson township in 1870. Joel reportedly died on November 23, 1873. His son John P. Haltom administered the estate. After debts were paid, $29.29 remained. Their home place was a 40-acre plot located in the SE ¼ of the NW ¼ of Section 9 in Jackson township near Buckskin. Lucinda sold this last bit of land on January 20, 1887. Lucinda is said to have died on July 4, 1887 in Owen County. Neither Joel or Lucinda Haltom's grave has been found so far.

Elijah married May 30, 1833 in Owen County to Elizabeth Beaman, born July 4, 1813 in North Carolina. Elijah settled in Morgan township, patenting 40 acres on December 9, 1837. He added 40 acres in 1848. His son William was born at Bowling Green in Clay County, Indiana in 1846. Elijah left the New Union Baptist Church in March 1852. He may have left Owen County for Iowa in 1853, along with several other Haltom family members. However, a history of Guthrie County, Iowa states that in 1855, Elijah moved to Warren County, Iowa. He farmed there until about 1860, when he moved to Cass township of Guthrie County, Iowa.

Elijah Haltom was a successful farmer and a lifelong member of the Baptist Church. He knew how to read and write, as did his wife and children. He died at Jefferson, Iowa on December 18, 1886 and is buried in the Greenwood Cemetery in Guthrie County, Iowa. Wife Elizabeth passed away on January 5, 1893 and is buried by his side.

THIRD GENERATION

12. Isaac Sugg Haltom was born January 22, 1832 in Owen County, Indiana, to James and Rebecca (Sugg) Haltom. He married (1) August 16, 1855 to Elizabeth J. Lockhart, born September, 1832 in Indiana, daughter of Stockton and Caroline Lockhart; (2) June 2, 1908 to Mary Reynolds in Putnam County, who was born ca.1838 and died May 25, 1921 in Cloverdale, Indiana.

Isaac lived in Wayne township of Owen County, 1860. He purchased a lot in Gosport, Wayne township of Owen County, on February 18, 1861. On October 27, 1863 Isaac bought 50 acres located in section 9 of Washington township. He sold the 50 acres on February 17, 1864 to brother Wiley Haltom. The lot was sold the previous month. Isaac bought the lot back in 1865 only to sell it again in April 1866. He began buying land in Putnam County, Indiana on November 14, 1868 when he bought a 246-acre farm in sections 29 and 30 of Mill Creek township. He added 47 acres on February 16, 1870.

Isaac had been a Master Mason in the Gosport Lodge #92 in 1869. Late that year, he and seven other Master Masons decided to start a new lodge in the town of Eminence, in Morgan County, Indiana. They succeeded in this attempt, the first meeting of Eminence Lodge #440 being held on February 11, 1870. Isaac was appointed Junior Deacon. He was still a member in 1896. In 1870 Isaac Haltom was living in Mill Creek township of Putnam County, Indiana. On March 20, 1872 Isaac purchased a 160-acre farm in adjoining Jefferson township for $5,600, located in section 25. This would be his home for the rest of his life. He was living in Jefferson township of that county, 1880.

Isaac Haltom and two other men helped finance the construction of a Church of Christ in the town of Belle Union of Jefferson township, 1892. He lived there in 1895. Isaac sold his several hundred acres of Putnam County land on November 7, 1896 with a quit claim deed to Julia Vermillion for $300. He still owned 160 acres in Jefferson township in 1901. Elizabeth Haltom died in 1907 near Cloverdale, in Morgan County, Indiana. Isaac died on March 8, 1911 in Putnam County and is buried in the Haltom Family plot. This is located on part of his farm, which is 1 & ½ miles west of Eminence, Indiana in Adams township of Morgan County. His first wife and several of his children are also buried there.

13. William B. Haltom was born November 24, 1835 in Owen County, Indiana to James and Rebecca (Sugg) Haltom and married April 25, 1866 to Melinda Sophie Miller, born ca.1842. William moved out at age 18 to work for William Alexander near Gosport in Owen County. He afterwards worked for Col. Jesse Alexander. On August 29, 1857, William and his brother Martin purchased 159 acres in section 4 of Morgan township for $1,600.

After the Civil War ended, William purchased a farm in Harrison township. He later traded the farm for the Alexander place, where he lived for the rest of his life. In 1880, William was living in Montgomery township of Owen County, Indiana, where he was farming.

He served as trustee of Harrison township in 1874 and Wayne township in 1883. William was also Owen County treasurer from 1884-88, his son Commodore serving as his deputy. At the time of his death he was serving again as Wayne township trustee. On July 17, 1893, wife Sophie and children Lillian and Ed left the Gosport Church of Christ. William died January 27, 1894, Melinda on May 22, 1919. He was described as one of Owen County's best and most respected citizens. He was a Mason. Both are buried in the Gosport, Indiana cemetery.

14. Wiley Sugg Haltom was born on April 28, 1843 in Montgomery County, North Carolina to James and Rebecca (Sugg) Haltom. Married December 8, 1867 to Emily Catherine Mundy (Owen Co. In.), born July 1849, Kentucky. Wiley S. Haltom enlisted in Co. H, 14th Indiana Vol., on April 15, 1861, three days after the declaration of war. His term of service was 3 months. Wiley then enlisted October 10, 1861 in Co. A, 59th Indiana Inf. for 3 years. They were organized at Gosport, Indiana.

Mustering in on February 11, 1862, Wiley's regiment left Gosport on February 13th for New Albany, Indiana. Their first heavy action was at the Battle of Corinth, Mississippi. The 59th joined Gen. Grant's army for the Vicksburg campaign in May 1863. After the fall of Vicksburg in July, they received a furlough, reenlisting in January 1864 as Veteran Volunteers. On July 1, 1864 the 59th Indiana joined Gen. Sherman's army as they made their historic "March to the Sea". After accepting the surrender of Gen. J.E. Johnson's forces in North Carolina and a triumphant march through Washington D.C., the 59th was sent to Louisville, Kentucky. Wiley S. Haltom was promoted to corporal on June 1, 1865 and mustered out on July 17, 1865. The 59th Indiana was said to have travelled more miles than any other regiment in the war.

After the war's end, Wiley married and farmed in Owen County until February 15, 1870, when he sold his land there and purchased a farm in Adams township of Morgan County the following day. On February 11th of that year he had become a charter member of the Eminence Masonic Lodge #440 founded by his brother Isaac. Eminence is in Morgan County. Wiley was appointed to the Finance Committee of the lodge in 1871. Wiley and wife Catherine were charter members of the Eminence Christian Church on October 20, 1873.

In 1875-76, Wiley purchased several lots in Eminence. He sold several in 1876 and most of the rest on March 19, 1877. He must have been clairvoyant, because on March 30, 1877, disaster struck when 1/3 of Eminence burned down. One of the few surviving brick buildings was owned by Wiley and he rented it for $3 a month to the Masons, whose own structure had burned down. He and a man named Wagle built another brick building in Lewisville, which still stands on the Owen-Morgan County line, in 1880. They ran a dry goods and grocery store from there.

In 1882, he ran for the office of Sheriff of Morgan County on the Republican ticket and was elected. Wiley sold his interest in the grocery at that point and moved to Martinsville. One of the arrests he made as sheriff came in July 1883 when Wiley went to the southwest part of Kansas to capture James W. Bridges, a suspect in a seduction case in Morgan County. He brought the suspect back to town. Wiley was reelected Sheriff in 1884, serving til the end of 1886.

Wiley S. Haltom became a successful man by purchasing a number of choice lots in Martinsville and a large amount of land in the 1880's. When he retired from business, he was quite comfortable. He lived in Mooresville by 1900, spending 2-3 winters in Colorado and Florida. His wife Catherine died on March 13, 1922. Wiley's health declined sharply after her death and he died on May 22, 1922 in Mooresville. He is buried with Catherine at the South Park Cemetery in Martinsville.

Carolina to Rachel Haltom. Married September 9, 1847 to Elizabeth Elsome Randall (Owen County, In.), born January 2, 1824 in Kentucky. Martin was an only child. In Owen County, Martin only attended school for 4 months. He lived with his mother and they had only one book in their home, which was the Holy Bible. Martin grew up to teach school in Owen County.

Martin entered 70 acres in Morgan township of Owen Co. Indiana, April 1849. When the family decided to move to Iowa, Martin sold this land on December 11, 1852. He and Elizabeth and their three little girls left Owen County in a covered wagon and one team.

Martin settled in Clarke County, Iowa. Martin was a staunch Democrat and almost was elected to the Iowa legislature from his district. He served as a Justice of the Peace there and as township accessor.

Martin Haltom was a Baptist minister. His wife was a Presybterian originally, joining the Missionary Baptist Church upon coming to Iowa. The children walked two miles to church. A story told by one of his children, described a wagon trip to church one morning when Martin had been baptized. He put the children in the back of the wagon and as it had been raining, Otter Creek was high when they crossed. The children thought they would be drowned when the water came up in the wagon box but they made it across all right.

Martin died of a stroke on April 10, 1882 in Clarke County. Wife Elizabeth died on March 4, 1880 of consumption. Both are buried in the Walker Cemetery, in Lucas County, Iowa, just across the county line.

Wedding; (2) on October 25, 1860 to Sarah Ann Stevens, born April 16, 1842 in Owen County, Indiana to William B. and Amy (Haltom) Stevens, died October 31, 1869, Owen County, Indiana; (3) September 21, 1871 to Clarissa Angeline Burns, born October 25, 1852, died December 4, 1930, Wellington, Sumner Co. KS. Isaac resided near Jordan Village in western Owen County. He united with the New Union Baptist Church on March 5, 1846, being baptized that date. He left the church by letter in September 1855.

Isaac S. Haltom purchased his farm, which was located in section 12 of Jackson township, on February 28, 1853 from his grandfather William Haltom Sr. It numbered 100 acres. He had just married earlier that month. This marriage was ended by 1860. In March 1859 he rejoined the church and was still a member in 1877. He lived with his parents in 1860 before remarrying to Sarah Stevens. In September of 1871 Isaac had a problem with Sarah's family, several of the Stevens men cussing him out. They were later charged by the New Union church for their conduct and were told to leave the church.

On March 25, 1879, Isaac sold his 127-acre farm to his brother Alexander. Alexander sold 27 acres of this land back to Isaac 6 months later. The last evidence in Owen County of Isaac S. Haltom is on a deed dated December 31, 1884 when Isaac sold this land back to Alexander. Sarah is buried in the Carolina Cemetery as are Isaac's infant children. Isaac moved to Wellington, Kansas where he died on October 26, 1916. Isaac and Clarissa Haltom are buried in the Rose Hill Cemetery, Wellington.

i. William A. Haltom b.10-12-1860 d.1-27-1906

On January 27, 1906, William was playing cards in George Weber's Saloon at Bowling Green in Clay County, Indiana. An argument erupted at one point between William and Willard McIntyre, a man who had a track record of getting into trouble. The bartender settled the argument by buying both a drink, then telling them to leave, which they did.

Later, William Haltom returned for a drink and McIntyre came out of the pool room asking if William wanted trouble. William said he didn't, but McIntyre called him some names and after some heated words were exchanged, McIntyre drew a pistol, firing twice. He hit William in the left arm and over the heart. William Haltom fell to the floor dead. After fleeing the saloon, McIntyre was apprehended by the sheriff and charged with murder. Haltom had a reputation as a "peacable citizen", never having been in trouble previously. He had a wife and 4 children. He is buried in the Six Mile Cemetery, Clay Co. In.

39. James Nathan Wilbur Haltom was born March 25, 1868 in Cataract, Owen County, Indiana to John and Mary (Bressler) Haltom. Married April 3, 1892 to Mattie Estelle Cameron (Reno Co. KS.), daughter of William and Anna Cameron, born September 18, 1875 in Philadelphia, Philadelphia County, Pennsylvania. The following biographical material comes from a writeup of J.N.W. Haltom by W.P. Haltom, his son, for "Pioneer Footprints Across Woods County" (OK.)

While living in Kansas from 1885-96, Will, as he was called, along with "J.N.W.", worked on the railroads in the eastern part of the state. Mattie Cameron's family came from Philadelphia to make their fortune and Mrs. Cameron soon convinced her husband to go back home. Mattie didn't want to, so she and Will Haltom decided to get married. This created a rift between her and her parents for many years.

When Will Haltom heard about the opening of a section of land called the Cherokee Strip, he made a trip into Oklahoma from Reno County, Kansas, to look it over. On February 24, 1895 he bought a relinquishment claim 13 miles south of Alva, in Woods County, Oklahoma. A year later he moved his wife and two sons to the homestead. Will said that "This country is good enough for me and I expect to live here until I die".

J.N.W. Haltom's first home in Oklahoma was a dugout with a dirt floor dug in the side of a hill. That was the family's home until they were able to build a two-story frame house. It had two rooms upstairs built for $147. According to W.P. Haltom, money was scarce in those days, the only way the Haltom family could survive was by Will going into the canyons south along the Cimmaron and Canadian Rivers and steal cedar trees from the government. He made fence posts of the trees, hauling them into Kansas where he sold them, making $1.00 a day. James did this with several neighbors due to the rivers they had to ford and the teams of mules needed to do the hauling. Once, they men were caught by the U.S. Marshal, arrested and taken to Woodward, where they were fined $2.50 each. They were released after the fine was paid.

Will wore burlap sacks made into shirts. Dry cow chips were gathered by the children and burned for fuel for cooking and heating. Will Haltom served as a constable in the 1890's and helped to settle neighborhood disputes. Local Indian tribes, likely Cheyanne and Arapahoe, came by on one occasion to ask for some of the watermelons Will had grown in a one-acre patch. Mrs. Haltom was afraid to refuse the request since Will wasn't home. The estimated 500 Indians cleaned the watermelons out almost entirely, eating the rind and all. Mattie Haltom died on October 31, 1951 at Enid, Garfield County, Oklahoma. James died on December 15, 1958 at Enid.

Charles homesteaded in Woods County, Oklahoma. He lived in a dugout for a while, then built a one-room house. Charles and his brother "Will" Haltom cut and hauled cedars.

Charles Haltom raised corn, wheat and livestock. His wife Alma worked as hard as any pioneer woman, scrubbing on a wash tub til 4 p.m. At some point Charley Haltom was deputized as a U.S. Marshal to help track down a horse thief who had been befriended by his father John P. Haltom. Charley had a prophetic dream one night which told him exactly where one of the stolen horses was. The following morning he drove to the place where the horse was and recovered it.

The family home burned in 1926, destroying most of their belongings, but Charles rebuilt with a 4-room house. In 1945 the family moved to Waynoka, Ok. Charles died on March 11, 1951 in Enid, Garfield County, Oklahoma of a coronary occlusion. Alma died June 25, 1976 in Woods County, Ok. Both are buried at Waynoka, Ok.

C. Elijah Spencer Haltom was born August 3, 1783 in Anson County, North Carolina to Spencer and Nancy (West?) Haltom. Married (1) Amy -?- , born ca.1775; (2) Sarah Ann (James) Merrill, born July 13, 1790 in Georgia to Abner James. Elijah was granted land in Montgomery Co. in 1801. Elijah served as Captain of the 10th Company of Montgomery County Militia during the War of 1812. He later served as a census taker. Elijah divorced or left his first wife, who may be Amy Haltom who was living in Montgomery County from 1820-50 with her son Ebenezer.

A family story handed down is that Elijah Haltom was planning on going to Alabama to fight Indians and his wife refused to accompany him to unpopulated and dangerous Alabama. He did move to Alabama, where he served as a Captain in the Indian Wars. He met a woman who had lost her husband during an Indian attack, while she herself had been scalped. She was Sarah (James) Merrill, who along with her 2 year old son William were among the survivors of the 1813 attack on Fort Sinquefield, Clarke County, Alabama.

A few years after marrying Elijah Haltom, a party of travelers stopped by for a meal with the Haltoms. One of them realized that his wife was Sarah Haltom. Her husband Mr. H. Merrill had been off fighting Indians and heard of the massacre and assumed his family had been killed. Sarah heard that her husband's party had been attacked by the Indians and not having heard anything from him, had assumed he had been killed. After some discussion, Mr. Merrill and Sarah Haltom decided to remain with their present spouses.

Elijah helped raise Sarah's son William James Merrill to manhood. He allegedly became a famous outlaw in Alabama. Elijah "Hattam" is found in the 1820 census of Wilcox County, Alabama. Elijah began spelling his name as "Holtam" as early as 1827. He married many people in his duties as a Justice of the Peace in Marengo County, Alabama in the 1820's. He patented land there on April 25, 1835. In 1839 he patented 79 acres in nearly Clarke County, Alabama. Elijah ran a mill and farmed. The couple lived the rest of their lives in Clark County, Alabama. Elijah died on August 17, 1868, being preceded in death by Sarah, on September 27, 1867.

F. John Haltom was born ca.1790 in Montgomery County, North Carolina to Spencer and Nancy (West?) Haltom. John Haltom made a number of land purchases in Montgomery County, 1824-51. He married Lucy Batten, born ca.1789 in North Carolina. He may be the "John Holton" who served in the 1st Regiment of Montgomery County during the War of 1812.

By 1852, John had land holdings of over 1,720 acres in Montgomery County, mainly on Bishop Creek and Rocky Creek. Most of this land was sold to his son Thomas in 1858. He owned 8 slaves in 1840 and was living in Montgomery County with Lucy in 1860, when they are last found in the census.

G. John Haltom was born ca.1790 in Montgomery County, North Carolina to William Haltom Sr. Married (1) ca.1808 probably to Nancy Haltom, born ca.1795 to William Haltom Jr.; (2) ca.1814 to Sara "Sallie" Callicott, born about 1800 in Virginia to John and Sarah (James) Callicott. Family tradition says that a John Haltom married Nancy Haltom, daughter of Spencer and Nancy Haltom. The only John Haltom available for this would have been John, son of William Haltom Jr. A first marriage that ended around 1813 is suggested by the fact that John Haltom had three sons born between 1809 and those years. His wife in 1832 was Sallie, born about 1800, too young to be the mother of Nathaniel, born about 1809.

John left Montgomery County at an early day, probably about 1814-15. He settled in Mifflin, in Henderson County, Tennessee. This area is now part of Chester County, Tennessee. John Haltom was granted eight 25 acre tracts of land in Henderson and Madison Counties in Tennessee, May 22, 1829. He was given several slaves by his mother-in-law Sarah Callicott in Madison County on January 9, 1832.

John was listed in the 1830 Henderson County census and the 1836-37 tax lists of that county. He owned 100 acres. John moved to Madison County, Tennessee by 1838, when he is listed as living in School District #17 of that county. Family tradition says that John moved to Missouri and then to Arkansas. John Haltom sold land in Madison County on December 3, 1840. Between 1847-50, he moved to Ouachita County, Arkansas with his family. He may be the person listed as "J. Hallom" living in Dallas County, Arkansas in 1864.

Spencer's Creek of Montgomery County in 1843-45. He probably moved to Madison County, Tennessee in 1845. He was living there in 1850. Isaac Haltom sold his land in Madison County, Tennessee on September 2, 1851. There is a marriage record in Madison County on August 24, 1854 between Hannah "Halton" and James T. Maroney. It could be presumed from this that Isaac Haltom died by 1854 or divorced Hannah. In 1864, an "I. Halton" is listed as living in Dallas County, Arkansas.

Haltom and Hulin Families Oppose Slavery

Although nearly every Haltom family living in the Confederate States of America during the Civil War contributed men to the army, not everyone supported the cause. In Montgomery County, North Carolina, close ties between the Alexander Haltom and Hiram Hulin families caused both to have ruptured relations with their neighbors as well as death to family members.

The families first became united in 1845 when James Haltom (1828-1885), son of Alexander and Sarah Haltom, married Elizabeth Hulin, daughter of Hiram and Nancy Hulin. Alexander Haltom's daughter Lucy (Haltom) Moore (1810-1881) had four children who would eventually marry children of Hiram and Nancy Hulin. The first was Carolina Moore (1837-1919) who married Jessie Hulin in 1855. Her brother Elisha Moore (1835-1905) married Sarah Hulin in 1857.

With a son and two grandsons of Alexander Haltom married into the Hulin family, the two were closely tied when North Carolina seceded from the Union. James Haltom's eldest son, Elisha Haltom, 15 years old, enlisted in Co. K of the 34th N.C. Infantry on September 9, 1861. He was killed at Ox Hill, Virginia on September 1, 1862. Two of his uncles, William and Joseph served in that regiment with him, the latter dying of disease in October 1862.

It was against this background that Elisha Moore, cousin of Elisha, was called upon to serve the Confederacy. He was a farmer and gold prospector when the war started, with a wife and son. He belonged to the Shiloh Church. Elisha and a number of the other men of the community refused to support slavery, claiming to be conscientious objectors. Due to the high feelings of the time, Elisha Moore and three of the Hulin brothers fled to the woods to avoid capture by the Confederates.

According to a story told in the Heritage of Montgomery County by Thoburn M. Freeman, while hiding out, Elisha became ill with pneumonia. His wife Sarah and sister Carolina, the wife of Jessie Hulin, who was also hiding out, prepared a bed of leaves and blankets for Elisha in the woods. They treated him with home remedies of hot tea made from herbs such as bone set. The women had to travel different routes to avoid leaving a trail by breaking twigs or disturbing rocks. Sarah and Carolina prayed they would not be followed. They nursed Elisha back to health.

The women endured cruelties from the Rebels who were trying to find Elisha and the Hulin brothers. One of their tactics was to hold their hand on a fence rail while a Rebel sat on it in an effort to force the women to give the fugitive's location away. They also came to Elisha Moore's home and told Sarah and Caroline that they had wounded Elisha mortally and tracked his blood trail. Elisha came home safe the next night as it turned out. One of James Haltom's daughters, teenager Rinda Haltom, was a Union sympathiser who helped feed the men who were hiding. She was also stopped and questioned by the local Confederate militia. She admitted feeding the men. She related those facts when she was over 90 years old, in 1938.

While Elisha Moore succeeded in eluding the authorities, Jessie Hulin and his two brothers were not so fortunate. They were caught and shot to death in 1865 on Buck Mountain by a party of Confederates who were their neighbors. William P. Haltom, Rinda's older brother, refused to serve the cause of slavery and fled to Tennessee where he joined the Union Cavalry in 1865.

Elisha became a well known blacksmith after the war.

Newsom's Tennessee Cavalry Regiment

During the Civil War, or the War for Southern Independence as some of the Haltom's may have preferred to call it, a total of 4 members of the family served in one regiment, known as Newsom's Tennessee Cavalry Regiment. It was organized in 1863 within Federal lines in West Tennessee. The following is a brief history of that regiment and of the Haltom men who fought in it.

Capt. John F. Newsom was authorized by Brigadier Gen. Gideon J. Pillow to raise a command within Federal lines. The resulting regiment crossed the Tennessee River, heading in the direction of Jackson, where they were sworn in on July 27, 1863 with eight companies. Three men, Pvt. Amos F.H. Haltom, Pvt. Ezekiel W. Haltom and Pvt. Thomas C. Haltom joined Company C. 1st Lt. Elisha S. Haltom joined Company F that same day.

On September 4, 1863, Newsom, with 700 men, was reported by Federal sources at Jackson, Tennessee as "stealing horses and conscripting men". On September 15, 1863, Pvt. Ezekiel W. Haltom was captured near Jackson, in Madison County, Tennessee. His brother Amos was captured there the following day, according to records of the Federal Prison at Alton, Illinois, where they were sent. Ezekiel arrived there on October 13th and died December 6, 1863 of erysielas. Amos died on January 29, 1864 of smallpox.

This left their brother Thomas and cousin Elisha with the regiment. On May 11, 1864, by orders of General Forrest, the 18th Tennessee Cavalry was organized, six companies of which were composed principally of men from Newsom's Cavalry Regiment. General Forrest appointed John F. Newsom as colonel of this new organization.

Lt. Elisha S. Haltom transferred to Company I of the new regiment, taking a demotion to Sergeant. It's not known if Thomas C. Haltom transferred to this regiment. Co. I enrolled May 1, 1864 at Jackson, Madison County. Their first action was at Tishomingo Creek, where a detachment of the regiment captured a larger force of Federal troops and saved Corinth, Mississippi from destruction. In the Battle of Brice's Crossroads, or Tishomingo Creek, the regiment was reported to have behaved gallantly, suffering 22 casualties.

The 18th Cavalry was heavily engaged at the Battle of Harrisburg on July 13, 1864, reporting 95 casualties, including Col. Newsom, who was wounded. A February 1865 muster roll showed E.S. "Halton" of Company C absent, along with more than a hundred others.

7. Pinkney Haltom was born 1813 in Montgomery County, North Carolina to Charles and Rhoda (Harris) Haltom. Pinkney married ca.1837 in Montgomery County to Hixie Harris, born ca.1817 in Montgomery County, North Carolina to Littleton and Temperance (Williamson) Harris. He owned a slave in 1840. After the death of his father, Pinkney left Montgomery County about 1855 by wagon train for Tennessee. He arrived 6 weeks later.

Settling in Madison County, near Deanburg, Pinkney had a farm and a small horse powered cotton gin. He received a land grant of 640 acres. Pinkney gave land for the Pleasant Springs Methodist Church, which was built about 1865. He died July 1, 1888 in Chester County, Tennessee and is buried in the Pleasant Springs Cemetery with wife Hixie, who died October 8, 1889.

9. Thomas C. Haltom was born March 2, 1820, in Montgomery County, North Carolina to John and Lucy (Batts) Haltom. He married Elizabeth A. McLendon, born June 24, 1827 North Carolina, died March 27, 1896. In the 1840's, he served as constable for District 3 in Montgomery County. He was a farmer, purchasing 1,146 acres on April 29, 1858 from his father. Thomas owned 3 slaves in 1856. In 1860, he was worth $4,000 in land and $10,000 in personal property.

Thomas operated a hotel in Troy, in Montgomery County when the Civil War began. Despite his age (41), he enlisted September 9, 1861 in Co. K. of the 34th North Carolina Infantry Regiment. He mustered in as First Sergeant and was elected 3rd Lieutenant April 18, 1862.

Thomas C. Haltom fought in the Battles of the Seven Days, being wounded in the leg at Frayser's Farm, Virginia, June 30, 1862. He was appointed 1st Lieutenant July 30, 1862. He also saw action at Second Manassas, Antietam, Fredricksburg, Chancellorsville and Gettysburg, the bloodiest battles of the war. At Gettysburg, on July 3rd, the 34th North Carolina was ordered to join General George Pickett's division on July 3, 1863 as his famous charge on Cemetery Hill began.

Despite facing the onslaught of Union cannon and concentrated fire, the Confederates marched in formation trying to reach the enemy line. In the end, 3,000 casualties resulted. This ended the south's hopes but that charge was known as the high water mark of the Confederacy. Lt. Thomas Haltom survived this battle and resigned on July 7, 1864 due to his large family needing him and due to his disabling war injury. Thomas later became Captain of Co. A. of the 6th Regiment North Carolina Senior Reserve.

After the war, Thomas sold off all of his land, owning none by 1871. He did own 24 head of cattle and moved to Rocky Springs township of Montgomery County, where in 1876 he purchased a 205 acre farm on Big Mountain Creek. He died in Montgomery County, North Carolina on June 22, 1880. Buried at Mt. Carmel Presbyterian Church, Richmond Co. N.C.
